Review of an Application from
NAME OF COLLEGE OF APPLIED ARTS AND TECHNOLOGY/INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY AND ADVANCED LEARNING proposing to offer a
Baccalaureate/Bachelor's Honours Degree in an Applied Area of Study:

PROPOSAL/PROGRAM NAME: i.e., Bachelor of Public Relations

Preface

In Ontario, organizations that wish to offer degree programs or part of a program leading to a degree (that either have limited or no legislative authority to do so) must request the consent of the Minister of Training, Colleges and Universities. The Minister refers the organization to the Postsecondary Education Quality Assessment Board (PEQAB, the Board) for its recommendation on the quality of the program and the organization's ability to deliver it. If the Minister is satisfied that the organization can deliver a quality program, s/he grants a time-limited consent that requires the program and the organization to be reviewed on a regular basis (typically every 5-7 years).

Minister's Directives to Colleges

Pursuant to the Post-secondary Education Choice and Excellence Act, 2000, PEQAB criteria are required to comply with such policy direction as may be given by the Minister. Of the 13 Standards against which college proposals are assessed, the Economic Need and the Non-Duplication standards are based on Minister's directives and apply only to College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAATs). Similarly, in accordance with Minister's directive, work-terms offered by CAATs must be paid, full-time, and of no less than 14 consecutive weeks in duration. These requirements are reflected in the Board's Handbook for Ontario Colleges.

GUIDELINES FOR YOUR REVIEW

THIS SECTION OUTLINES THE EXPECTATIONS OF THE QUALITY ASSESSMENT PANEL

DESCRIPTION OF PROPOSAL INSERTED HERE: i.e., Ontario College of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) A, has applied to offer a Bachelor of X program.

We have enclosed the college's proposal for your review. Your assignment, discussed in detail below, is to assess the submission against the Board's requirements for a Bachelor's Honours Degree in an applied area of study.

We will provide a short orientation session for you over the phone a week or so after you receive the package. Following that session, we will start the process by introducing you (by email) to your contacts at the college. Please note that in the Background and the Additional Information Related to Your Review Section (p.34ff) of these Guidelines you will find information, that we will also cover in the orientation, about degree granting in Ontario, and the review and assessment of applications for Ministerial consent. In addition, this section contains tips about the review that you might find helpful.

Your primary obligation is to provide the Board with your best judgement on the quality of College A's proposed Bachelor of X and the college's capacity to deliver the program. To this end, the Panel is asked to assess the college against the standards and benchmarks set by PEQAB (enclosed) and, when it deems it appropriate, to identify and address any other quality-related issues arising from the proposal.

The QAP will prepare the report for the Board. The QAP report should provide the panel's best judgement with respect to the quality of the proposed program, the reasons for its judgements and be of sufficient detail to enable the Board to determine the extent to which its criteria are satisfied. The key issues are whether the proposed program meets the standards set by the Board, and whether you think the program is of sufficient quality to be recommended to the Board and eventually to the students of Ontario. The materials provided in these Guidelines are intended to assist you to conduct your assessment. They should not be seen as limiting the scope of the assessment or the QAP report to the Board.

We have provided you with the college's complete submission, and should we receive any additional information, either from the college or interested stakeholders, we will forward it to you. Please direct any requests for additional information directly to the college. Should you receive additional information, please submit it with your report for our files.

Specifics of the Review

THIS SECTION OUTLINES ANY SPECIAL INSTRUCTION IDENTIFIED BY THE BOARD FOR THE REVIEW, e.g.:

Review of Institutional Policies

Within each application (including this one), the college submits (as required by PEQAB) information that is common to each application (e.g., information pertaining to policies on student feedback, academic freedom, ethical research). This information has been reviewed by PEQAB on a previous occasion and was found satisfactory. Please note that for your ease of reference, benchmarks/standards that have been previously reviewed and found satisfactory have been identified in the Guidelines as “√– previously reviewed”. Although the panel is not required to make a judgement about these standards and benchmarks, our intention is not to limit the panel’s comments. Should you wish to comment on these aspects of the application, the Board invites you to do so.

Review of Breadth (Liberal Arts)

The Board requires that bachelor programs include several liberal arts, or breadth courses, and further requires these to meet several benchmarks, as specified in the Guidelines. College A’s breadth curriculum was previously reviewed and found satisfactory by the Board. In these Guidelines we have marked as “previously reviewed by breadth panel” those benchmarks that were reviewed by the breadth QAP. You may find that the information pertaining to breadth provides useful context. The panel’s scrutiny is, however, not required for the benchmarks related to breadth with one exception: the panel is still asked to review the distribution of core and non-core courses for the proposed program and advise on whether these are appropriately categorized as core and none-core in the context of the program.

Review of Distance Education Elements

College A’s capacity to deliver distance education was previously reviewed and found satisfactory by the Board. Once again, you may find that the information pertaining to online delivery of those courses provides useful context, however, it does not require the panel’s scrutiny as does the information pertaining specifically to the face-to-face delivery of the degree program.

Assessment against Standards and Benchmarks

The Board has 13 standards relevant to the review:

1. Admission Promotion and Graduation Standard
2. Program Content
3. Program Delivery
4. Capacity to Deliver
5. Credential Recognition
6. Regulation and Accreditation
7. Nomenclature
8. Program Evaluation
9. Academic Freedom and Integrity
10. Student Protection
11. Economic Need
12. Non-Duplication
13. Degree Level

Each standard has several benchmarks that demonstrate the college’s performance against the standard.

Definitions of Assessment Categories

When assessing the proposal against the Board's benchmarks, you're asked to indicate whether the college meets or exceeds the Board's benchmark (this aspect of the proposal meets or exceeds the threshold set by the Board in the benchmark) or does not meet the Board's benchmark (this aspect of the proposal does not meet the threshold set by the Board in the benchmark).

In the case that the benchmark is not met, the Board requires your guidance about whether the revisions required to meet the threshold set by the Board in the benchmark are major (required revisions to meet the Board's benchmark are substantial, would take significant time and/or resources to rectify, and/or should be re-assessed before being implemented) or minor (required revisions to meet the benchmark are relatively minor, the institution has the capacity to implement them, and they do not require reassessment prior to implementation).

For each benchmark, please indicate whether the college

- Meets or exceeds the benchmark (check "Y"); or
- Does not meet the benchmark (check "N").

Where an aspect of the proposal does not meet the benchmark, characterize whether a) you consider the revisions required to meet the Board's threshold to be major or minor (based on the definitions provided above), b) the nature of the revision(s) that will be required to meet the threshold, and c) the reasons for your judgements.

Note any commitments made by the college during the review that were critical to your judgements.

Completed Report:

Please return the final report to the Postsecondary Education Quality Assessment Board in electronic format and send a signed version of the report to:

6. All bachelor programs have a breadth requirement that includes coherent and substantive, non-core ⁹ offerings. This requirement informs the design of non-core courses and provides the basis of at least some of the assessment of student outcomes. The non-core curriculum contributes to the achievement of: a) the development of critical thinking, quantitative reasoning, written and oral communication skills; b) more than introductory knowledge in the humanities, sciences, social sciences, global cultures, and/or mathematics; c) knowledge of society and culture, and skills relevant to civic engagement; and d) more than introductory knowledge of the distinctive assumptions and modes of analysis of a discipline outside the core field(s) of study. ⁹ Non-core courses are those that contribute to knowledge in fields unrelated to the main field(s) of study. Core courses are those that contribute to the development of knowledge in the main field(s) of study. The main field(s) of study is the field(s) identified in the degree nomenclature. Core courses can be in the main field(s) of study, or in related fields. (e.g., psychology, history, and statistics are different fields of study. Because the field of psychology uses the scientific method as one of its methodological approaches, statistics would be a core course in a psychology degree program. Statistics is not related to scholarship in history, however, and would not be a core course in a history degree program.)

¹⁰ An applicant may demonstrate through alternative approaches that the degree program meets the breadth/non-core requirements.

11. Work experiences, internships and field placements: a) are appropriate to the program; b) have articulated learning outcomes; c) identify an appropriate method for both instructor and employer/supervisor assessment leading to the assignment of a grade; and d) are in blocks of no less than 14 weeks. ¹¹	<input type="checkbox"/> Y <input type="checkbox"/> N

¹¹ This requirement is based on a Minister’s directive. PEQAB requires work-terms to occur prior to the last term of study to encourage the student to complete the program and graduate rather than stay in the position. PEQAB prefers paid work-terms and expects colleges to make every effort possible to build the links necessary to assist the student secure a paid internship. In some circumstances the college may not be able to secure 14 week, paid work-terms and propose alternative arrangements. As with any PEQAB criteria the onus is on the college to build the case for not meeting PEQAB’s standard.

3. Was the information provided in the submission combined with any additional information sought from the college (including at the site visit) sufficient, reliable, and valid for the purposes of this review?
 - Yes
 - No (if no, please comment)

¹⁷ The doctorate is normally the terminal academic credential in all fields or disciplines with the exception of studio disciplines where a master's degree in the field/discipline is more typical. The Board expects that the faculty will hold the terminal academic credential: (a) in the same field/discipline area as the proposed program area, or (b) in a field/discipline which can be shown to be closely related in content, or (c) with a graduate level speciality in the same field/discipline.

5. CREDENTIAL RECOGNITION STANDARD

²¹ Pursuant to the Post-secondary Education Choice and Excellence Act, 2000 (the Act) Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology may apply for the Minister's consent to offer bachelor degrees in applied areas of study. Consequently, Bachelor level and not Master or Doctoral level nomenclatures are available for designating these degrees.

²² There are a variety of ways to connote with nomenclature whether a degree is applied/professional- or research-oriented. With the exception of Bachelor of Applied Science, which connotes research-oriented degrees, research-oriented degrees are normally of the form: Bachelor of Faculty (Subject), for example, Bachelor of Arts (Psychology) or Bachelor of Science (Chemistry). The level of study at the Bachelor level can be further differentiated as "Honours" for research-oriented degrees. Because colleges are enabled by the Act to offer only degrees in applied areas, research-oriented nomenclatures (e.g., Bachelor of Arts/Science/Applied Science), and the term "honours", are not available for designating college degrees.

The typical approaches to nomenclature for Bachelor degrees in applied areas, available for designating college degrees, are:

- 1) Bachelor of Faculty (Subject), for example, Bachelor of Technology (Information Technology);
- 2) (With the exception of Applied Science) Bachelor of Applied Faculty (Subject), for example, Bachelor of Applied Arts (Justice Studies); or
- 3) Bachelor of Subject, for example, Bachelor of Interior Design.

13. HONOURS BACCALAUREATE/BACHELOR'S DEGREE STANDARD

A degree in applied area of study is normally designed to require a level of conceptual sophistication, specialized knowledge, and intellectual autonomy similar to that in an honours or specialist degree program but with the disciplinary content oriented to an occupational field of practice.

Students in applied programs learn by doing, with a focus on preparing for entry into an occupational field of practice. Such programs incorporate a blend of theory and practice, and normally include a terminal project or other practice-based exercises intended to develop and demonstrate the student's readiness for employment in the occupational field of practice.

In addition to personal and intellectual growth, the programs are primarily designed to prepare students for employment in the field of practice, second-entry professional degree programs, or, depending on the content of the program and the field, entry into either graduate study or bridging studies for an appropriate graduate program.

Classroom instruction is typically eight semesters in duration (normally 120 credits, or the equivalent) and may be supplemented by required workplace experience (e.g., two to four supervised co-operative work terms).

Background

Degree Granting in Ontario

Applications for Ministerial Consent

In Ontario, most universities have an act of the Ontario Legislature, which permits them to offer any degrees. Under the terms of the Post-secondary Education Choice and Excellence Act, 2000 (the Act), the consent of the Ontario Minister of Training, Colleges and Universities is required for anyone without legislative authority seeking in Ontario, either "directly or indirectly," to

- grant a degree;
- provide a program or part of a program of postsecondary study leading to a degree to be conferred by a person inside or outside of Ontario;
- advertise a program or part of a program of postsecondary study offered in Ontario leading to a degree conferred by a person in or outside Ontario;
- sell, offer for sale or provide by agreement for a fee, reward or other remuneration, a diploma, certificate, document or other material that indicates or implies the granting or conferring of a degree;
- operate or maintain a university;
- use or be known by a name of a university or any derivation or abbreviation of a name of a university;
- hold oneself out to be a university;
- make use of the term university or any derivation or abbreviation of the word in advertising relating to an educational institution in Ontario; and
- make substantial changes to programs offered pursuant to a consent.

Anyone wishing to engage in these activities must apply to the Minister, who refers the application to the Board. Organizations in this category include colleges of applied arts and technology; most private institutions; Ontario public institutions with limited degree granting authority; and public institutions from outside Ontario.

Role of the Postsecondary Education Quality Assessment Board Secretariat

PEQAB Secretariat staff:

- support the Board in fulfilling its mandate;
- communicate on the role of the Board and its operations to prospective applicants, stakeholders and others; and
- manage all applications for consent.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION RELATED TO YOUR REVIEW

Role of the Subject-Matter Experts (SMEs)

The primary obligation of the SMEs is to provide their best judgement on the quality of the proposed program. To this end, SMEs are asked to:

- assess the proposal against the standards and benchmarks set by PEQAB;
- to consider any special instructions indicated by PEQAB; and
- when members of the panel deem it appropriate, to identify and address any other quality-related issues arising from the proposal.

Under the coordination of the panel chair, the panel develops a report which should provide the best collective judgement of the panel with respect to the quality of the proposed program, the reasons for its judgements, and be of sufficient detail to enable the Board to determine the extent to which its criteria are satisfied. The key issues are whether the proposed program meets the standards set by the Board, and whether panel members think the program is of sufficient quality to be recommended to the Board and eventually to the students of Ontario. More specifically, the report must include at least the following:

- an assessment of the application against each of the Board's standards and benchmarks;

- an assessment of the application in terms of any additional matters raised by the Board;
- an assessment of the sufficiency, reliability and validity of the evidence provided by the college;
- an assessment of evidence found during any site visit, resulting from the panel's research, or submitted to the panel by other parties; and
- a recommendation, with reasons, on whether the proposed program meets the Board's criteria and is of sufficient academic quality to be offered to the people of Ontario.

Role of the Panel Chair

In addition to the responsibilities noted above, the Chair is responsible for the following:

- planning and assigning the activities to the panel;
- liaising with the college regarding timing and setting the agenda for the site visit;
- organizing the panel's work; and
- coordinating and preparing the final report using these Guidelines.

Quality Assessor Procedures

- peruse the submission and guidelines included in this document;
- panels often work through the Guidelines as they do a desk audit, making preliminary judgements on the strengths and weaknesses of the program and noting items that require follow-up at the site visit. Reviewing the submission and conducting a desk audit prior to the site visit typically aids in the drafting of the report;
- set questions for discussion/clarification to be raised when meeting with other member of the panel;
- set tentative questions for the site visit;
- identify who needs to respond to the panel's questions at the visit; and
- determine what is needed in the way of additional information.

Additional Information provided by the Institution

The Board provides QAPs with the college's complete submission for review as well as any supplementary information the Board has received from the college. The Board asks the panel to direct any requests for additional information from the college through the panel chair. Additional information pertaining to the application received by the panel should be forwarded to the Secretariat together with the panel's report.

The Site Visit

In most cases, panels are expected to undertake a one-day site visit where they can test the validity of claims made in the application. Where several locations are proposed, the chair decides which one(s) to include in the visit. Ultimately, the chair will determine, in consultation with the PEQAB secretariat, if a site visit is needed. The chair will establish the site visit strategy and develop an appropriate schedule in consultation with the college.

Duties of the Institution's Liaison

The institutional contact person ensures that the visit is arranged so that the agenda can be realized, including scheduling meetings and rooms for the panel. Panel members will make their own travel arrangements (transportation, hotel room), but may consult the institution for recommendations.

During the visit, the team will wish to interview senior administrators, faculty, students and alumni (in the case of renewal applications) to gain a cross-sectional view and a variety of perspectives on key issues. Depending on the type of review, they may also wish to meet with support or collaborating staff and examine facilities and other resources. The panel's expectations need to be made clear prior to the site visit. The chair might begin each interview session by identifying the objectives of the interview and by posing open-ended questions and questions that evoke analysis and dialogue. Panel members are encouraged to take careful notes of each interview session as they will be invaluable when writing the report. The panel is encouraged to keep interviews to a manageable number. Too many interviews may limit the panel's ability to explore an issue comprehensively. The panel might decide to include a session at the end of the site visit to conclude and reach consensus about the content of the report.

Writing the Report

Under the coordination of the panel chair, the panel will prepare a report for the Board. The report should provide the best collective judgement of the panel with respect to the quality of the proposed program, the reasons for its judgements, and include sufficient detail in narrative form to enable the Board to determine the extent to which its criteria are satisfied and provide the Board with the information it needs to make an informed decision. Deficiencies should be documented particularly carefully. The key issues are whether the proposed program meets the standards set by the Board, and whether the panel members think the program is of sufficient quality to be recommended to the Board and eventually to the students of Ontario.

The materials provided in these Guidelines are intended to be an aid to the panel and the Board. They should not be seen as limiting the scope of the assessment or the panel's full report to the Board.

Diverging Opinions

The members of a QAP may not always agree on all matters. The Board is interested in knowing about areas of substantive disagreement, the nature of the disagreement, and the reasons for the disagreement. The Board does not want to receive minority reports. It requires a single report, which should include divergent opinions fully and fairly.

Institution's Commitments

During the review, the institution may make commitments that alter what the panel's judgement would be for the submission alone. It is important to document such commitments in the report and their role in your judgements. The panel's final assessment should be based on all information provided by the institution, including additional materials and commitments made during the review. The institution will have to confirm that they made the commitment and their intention to honour it. The Board will then be in the position of determining whether the commitments are reasonable and whether the institution is capable of honouring (hence the importance of your advice in this regard).

Ownership of Reports

The QAP's report and all related attachments are the property of the Minister. The panel will hold its deliberations and preliminary report in confidence. Following the Minister's decision on the application and in accordance with the Board's terms of reference, the Board may post on its website all official report(s) of the quality assessment panel and the college's responses to them, or make these reports otherwise available to the public subject to the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act.

Following the Submission of the Report

Institution's Response to Reports

To ensure a transparent and fair assessment process, the Board will provide the institution with the opportunity to respond to the panel's report. In some cases, the Board may ask the panel to respond to the institution's remarks.

Next Steps

In formulating its recommendation, the Board will consider:

- the institution's submission;
- the findings of the QAP;
- the institution's response to the panel report;
- any additional materials provided by the institution to the Board; and
- any commitments made by the institution during the review process.

The Board communicates its recommendation to the Minister. The Minister considers the Board's recommendation and any public policy matters, and makes a decision about consent. If consent is granted, it is normally for a five-year period, after which the program(s) must be reviewed again.
